and Mrs. Egbert G. Leigh, Jr. and their small son, of 504 West Frank-lin Street, are leaving town to-mor-row for their country estate, "Piedmont," in Orange County, where they will spend the Christmas season. W. Catesby Jones, of New Orleans, a broth-er of Mrs. Leigh, will join them at "Pledmont" for a short stay. Gilliam-McCluer.

Rev. Edwin B. McCluer, D. D., and Mrs. McCluer, of Bon Air, have an-nounced the engagement and approachnounced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ellen Coalter, to James R. Gilliam, Jr., of Lynchburg. Both Mr. Gilliam and his bride-to-be are prominently related throughout the State, and their wedding will be an event of the greatest interest to society here.

Coming Events.

One of the most interesting Christmas parties of the week will be the dance at the Westmoreland Club Friday night from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock. and attractive event in every detail, and the decorations will be in keping with the celebration of the day. This is the usual Friday evening dance and members are asked to note the change in the hour. change in the hour.

Miss Martha Robinson has sent out invitations for a Christmas party to be given at her home on West Franklin luncheon to-day at the Commonwealth Club in honor of Mrs. James Gordon Smith, a bride of the fall.

Miss Sterry's Debut.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Sterry in Virginia will be in-terested in the debut of their eldest daughter, Miss Pradence Sterry, for whom they are giving a coming out party in New York this week. Mr. and Mrs. Sterry have for so many years been identified with the smart society circles at Virginia Hot Springs and latterly at White Sulphur, as well as at Palm Beach, that they seem almost to belong to Virginia. Miss Prudence who has many friends among the younger set in Richmond, is one of the most popular buds in society this

At the Woman's Club.

There was a brilliant gathering of prominent women and distinguished guests at the Woman's Club yesterday to do honor to James Branch Cabell, to do honor to James Branch Cabell, whose latest novel, "The Soul of Millicent," was interpreted by Miss Olive Russell Chapin, of Washington. The book is one of the finest examples of romantic literature that has yet been presented by an American author. The story is told quite simply. It is a tale of a deathless love, dauntless and unshaken, set in all the vivid, colorful background of an ancient day and woven into a rich broidery of words. woven into a rich broidery of words. The imagery and exquisite beauty of the author's English have fashioned a fabric in style so finished and polished us to open a land of enchantment to his readers, yet untouched. Mrs. Kate Langley Bosher presented the subject of the afternoon and intro-duced Miss Chapin to her audience as well. She paid gracious tribute to Mr. Cabell's work in the field of litera-ture, and stated that his writing opened Returning From Abroad.

John Powell, who has been absent from this country for the past several years, is returning shortly from England, where he has been making his home recently. Mr. Powell is expected in Richmond on Christmas Day, and will be the guest of his sister, Mrs. Smith Brockenbrough during his stay in Richmond. Mr. Powell has written his name high upon the walls of fame as a musician and composer of note, and his recitals here have been events of wide interest. of wide interest.

Interesting Musicale.
Invitations will shortly be issued by Mrs. Frank Deane Williams to the members of the Richmond Alliance members of the Richmond Alliance Francaise to attend a musicale to be given at her residence. The program will be composed almost entirely of French songs by Mrs. Hamilton-Smith, who consented to act as soloist for the society. Mrs. Smith will be accompanied by Mrs. Channing M. Ward. This affair will close for the year the first session of the society, which, though so recently organized, the Richmond groupe of the Alliance the Richmond groupe of the Alliance Française has met with marked suc-cess. Several lectures have been given this year, and the French books de-posited at the Rosemary library have proved a source of interest and satis-faction to all members.
